

TechnologyOne Evolve 2016 Business Case

What is TechnologyOne Evolve

Evolve is TechnologyOne's international user conference which is held every two years. With more than 1500 attendees, a strong participation by partner and complementary product vendors and more than 100 individual sessions, the three day conference is extremely valuable in determining how you can get the best out of your TechnologyOne software investment.

At Evolve 2016 you can learn about Ci Anywhere, which is a continuation of our very successful Connected Intelligence (Ci) platform, and enables you to embrace smart mobile devices as part of your organisation's enterprise solution. Ci Anywhere is highly scalable, operates either on premise, or on the cloud, and adapts to run on traditional laptops/PCs and smart mobile devices from phones to tablets.

Evolve 2016 will address two key needs for delegates:

Feedback from the last Evolve

The last Evolve conference was run in February 2014. Below is sample feedback from delegates that attended the 2014 conference.

Evolve provided value to you and your business?

Customer quotes on the value they received at the 2014 event:

"Tips and tricks were really useful and it provided more opportunity for us to ask questions or hear how other people were using the system. We were then able to network further with people that raised items in the sessions."

"All of the sessions I attended were useful and I was able to take something away from each of them."

"The presentation on how and when to move to the cloud platform was excellent. It was open and honest and discussed the key decision points that could lead to the change. I liked the fact that they pointed out the challenges that need to be worked through."

"The most useful part is the ability to network and to talk to the product specialists."

"Adrian Di Marco's presentation along with the demonstration of the Ci Anywhere interface was a highlight. It is exciting to see the future direction of the company as it further reinforces that TechnologyOne is the correct choice for Council. None of the Council's other software suppliers are even contemplating taking their product into the cloud or rewriting their UI to be a totally web based solution."
